MARKET WAS IRREGULAR.

New York, Jan. 17.—On a much smalltr volume of business today's trregular trock market reflected the mixed views of processional traiters and the lack of more than casual public interest.

Money tendencies, possible disruption of impending industrial mergers and durther price recision of various commodities were among the factors which accentuated the market's unpertain troid.

Call leans were freely made at the intial rate of 5 per cent, but the demanda later forced the rate to 5 1-2, that figtre, however, being 1-2 per cent, under
